PALM BEACH INTERNATIONAL FILM FESTIVAL EXTENDS INVITATION TO EXHIBITION

PALM BEACH, FL, February 11, 2010 – The Palm Beach International Film Festival (PBIFF) is inviting theatre owners and film bookers to attend this year's Festival, happening April 22-26, as the festival's guest. The PBIFF has extended this invitation in order to facilitate networking between theatre owners/film bookers and independent filmmakers and providing them the opportunity to attend screenings of top films from throughout the world.

"I am frequently asked by theater owners and bookers for recommendations on new independent films," said Randi Emerman, Festival Executive Director. "We will extend the invitation so the owners and bookers can see these films first hand and have the opportunity to meet the filmmakers. This is also a great opportunity for filmmakers to connect with the owners."

The Festival will hold screenings and five nights of exciting parties and events at locations throughout Palm Beach County. The complimentary invitation pertains to screenings and events, not travel expenses. Theater owners and bookers who are interested in attending the Festival are encouraged to call 561-362-0003 or to visit the website at www.pbifilmfest.org for credential forms and accommodation information.
